STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Upon a petition duly filed by United Packinghouse Workers of America, (CIO), herein called the Union, alleging that a question affecting commerce had arisen concerning the representation of employees of Armour & Company, Branch House, Wilson, North Carolina, herein called the Company, the National Labor Relations Board provided for an appropriate hearing upon due notice before George L. Weasler, Trial Examiner. Said hearing was held at Wilson, North Carolina, on October 2, 1944. The Company and the Union appeared and participated. All parties were afforded full opportunity to be heard, to examine and cross-examine witnesses, and to introduce evidence bearing on the issues. The Trial Examiner's rulings made at the hearing are free from prejudicial error and are hereby affirmed. All parties were afforded an opportunity to file briefs with the Board.

Upon the entire record in the case, the Board makes the following:

FINDINGS OF FACT

I. THE BUSINESS OF THE COMPANY

Armour & Company, an Illinois corporation, owns and operates approximately 300 branch houses throughout the United States. This proceeding is concerned solely with the branch house located in Wilson, North Carolina. At the Wilson branch house the Company manufactures sausages and boiled hams using the skeletal meat of beef and pork and beef and pork products as raw materials. During the year immediately preceding the hearing the Company purchased raw materials valued in excess of $50,000, 90 percent of which was procured from sources outside the State of North Carolina. During the same period the finished products of the Company exceeded $75,000 in value and all was sold within the State of North Carolina.

The Company admits that it is engaged in commerce within the meaning of the National Labor Relations Act.

II. THE ORGANIZATION INVOLVED
