

CASE.NO:20-3178

ABDUL MOHAMMED,
PETITIONER-APPELLANT

vs.

NLRB,
RESPONDENT-APPELLEE

RESPONSE TO RESPONDENT'S MOTION TO DISMISS

1. The Petitioner is not sure about the Respondent's argument that this court lacks jurisdiction over General Counsel's decision to not prosecute this case.
2. General Counsel refused to prosecute this case because NLRB ruled that the Petitioner and his fellow drivers are independent contractors and not employees of Uber Technologies Inc (hereinafter Uber).
3. At this moment the Petitioner is requesting this court to only decide whether the Petitioner and his almost 30 million fellow drivers are employees or independent contractors.
4. How this court will rule in this case will affect 30 million drivers and their families.
5. Uber has divided the drivers based on their race, religion, color, national origin, ethnicity etc. in order to prevent the drivers from getting united under one forum or a union, so that Uber can exercise absolute control over the drivers.
6. Hence the Petitioner is requesting this court to deny Respondent's Motion to Dismiss and proceed with this appeal to decide whether the Petitioner and his almost 30 million fellow drivers are employees or independent contractors.
